

About HOSPAC

HOSPAC, composed of the state and federal political action committees of the Texas Hospital Association, is the voice for more than 320,000 health care professionals working in hospitals throughout the state.

HOSPAC is the political voice for those who care about Texas hospitals, their staff and the patients they serve. HOSPAC members make a difference by combining their voices and political contributions together to fight for sound health care public policy. Teaming together through HOSPAC, rather than standing alone, makes a more powerful difference in the political process.

HOSPAC members play a powerful role to help shape health care policy because 100 percent of their membership contributions are used to support those candidates best able to help hospitals improve health care delivery and financing. Once elected, these candidates can help hospitals by supporting legislative action on important issues such as Medicare/Medicaid funding, workforce shortages, trauma care and many others.
